

Dear Family,

A note from your child's class

Today your child started learning about money. Our big idea: money is a tool, something people use to get what they need and want.

We learned that long ago, people traded things directly (like apples for shoes), but that was hard. So communities created money: coins and bills that everyone agrees have value. We also learned that most people get money by working and earning it.

And we met the four things we do with money: Earn, Spend, Save and Give.

Try this in the car or at the store:

“Can you tell me one thing you learned about money today? What is money used for?”

A 5-minute game (no materials needed): take turns naming jobs. “I name a job, you tell me if that person earns money: yes or no.” Start with easy ones (doctor, teacher, bus driver), then get creative (artist, gardener, chef). The goal: your child connects that all kinds of work lead to earning, and that work is honorable.

Thank you for being a partner in your child's learning.
